CANADA WATCHING EMIGRANTS.

Trying to Determine How Many of Those Who Go to the U. S. Stay.

St. John, N. S., Nov. 23.-The Canadian immigration department is conducting an investigation of the exodus from this country to the United States, and officials of the department are busy checking up returns. The reports of the United States department of immigration are taken as a basis for the investigation and each individual case reported within a certain period of time s being followed up and reported on.

The intention of the department is to arrive at a basis on which to figure the proportion of the number of Canadians who emigrate to the United States who are lost to this country. Of those who declare their intention of remaining when they cross the border, a certain percentage always returns, and of those who go temporarily there are some who remain permanently. VERMONT'S SMALLPOX.

Secretary Holton of State Board of Health Tells of Situation,

Burlington, Nov. 23 .- The smallpox idemic in Vermont was told about at some length last night by Dr. H. D. Holton, secretary of the Vermont state board of health, who was in the city temporarily.

in Vermont, I called attention, in one of the bulletins of the state board of health, to the fact that this disease was. prevailing in New Hampshire, especially in some of the mill towns, and that the state, as well as local physicians, should be on the lookout for cases coming to their attention.

"Not only has small pox been preva lent in New Hampshire, but there has been an epidemic of it in the vicinity of Providence, Rhode Island, and cases of the disease have been common all over the country, since last summer. But it has appeared in a mild form wherever has been reported. There is a great dif-ference in the virulence of the disease in different years, and this year it has been so mild as to pass without being recognized in many cases. "My attention was first called to the sence of smallpox in this state by Dr. E. Darling of Hardwick. He is the
